

Curriculum Vitae

Prof. Dr. Çağatay Nuhoglu

Pediatrics Specialist

University of Health Sciences Faculty of Medicine

Haydarpaşa Numune Training and Research Hospital

Pediatric Clinic Administrative and Education Officer

Born in 1967 in Çorlu, Çağatay Nuhoglu graduated from Beylerbeyi High School in 1984 and Istanbul Faculty of Medicine in 1990. He received his specialty training in Pediatrics at Istanbul Göztepe Training and Research Hospital between 1990-1994. He did his military service at Gallipoli Military Hospital between 1995-1996. He completed his compulsory service at Alemdağ Mother and Child Health and Family Planning Center. After working at Şişli Etfal Training and Research Hospital for one year, he was transferred to Haydarpaşa Numune Training and Research Hospital in 1999. He went to the East on short-term temporary duty twice; he worked in Hakkari State Hospital and Şırnak Beytüşşebap State Hospital. In 2001, he became chief assistant at Haydarpaşa Numune Pediatric Clinic. In 2010, he was appointed as assistant chief by central exam. He worked as an acting chief. In 2012, he became an associate professor and was appointed as a clinical chief. While working as a government employee before, he switched to the university staff in 2018. In 2021, he became a professor. While maintaining the administrative and educational responsibility of the pediatric clinic, he was a member of the Circulating Capital Review Board, Infection Control Committee Member, Transfusion Committee Member, as well as the Chairman of the Clinical Research Ethics Committee of Haydarpaşa Numune Training and Research Hospital and the editor of the Haydarpaşa Numune Medical Journal in TR-Index. His special interests include Pediatric Infectious Diseases, Pediatric Chest Diseases, Pediatric Immunology and Allergy and child abuse and neglect.