

After graduating from Istanbul University Faculty of Medicine, I completed my specialty education at Gazi University Faculty of Medicine, Department of Pediatrics. Between 2000-2002, I worked as a chief assistant at Gazi University Faculty of Medicine, Department of Pediatrics. I specialized in Pediatric Infectious Diseases at Ankara University Faculty of Medicine, Department of Pediatrics. After that, I received the Turkish Education Foundation Outstanding Achievement Scholarship and I started working at Harvard University, Boston Children's Hospital as a Clinical Research Fellow for 3 years on immunosuppressive patient infections, pediatric AIDS, and congenital infections.

I completed the minor compulsory service at Şişli Etfal Training and Research Hospital, Pediatric Infection Clinic. I am still working as a professor in the same hospital. I have published 60 articles in international journals, 50 in national journals, and 23 national and international book chapters.